SPONTANEOUS REACTIONS...

Vigor of youth is somehow tied to spontaneous reactions that keep us ever on the go. Natural energy propels us into new and creative projects. Canaries decorate the corridors in a torrent of school spirit. Pep rallies, fund raising campaigns, dances after games and even difficult tests seem to provide fuel for the next few minutes of action.

William Allen High School - its facilities, its teachers, its administrators - is the stimulus. The student body reacts, sometimes negatively, but more often positively, and the world revolves around us.

WILLIAM ALLEN
HIGH SCHOOL

ALLENTOWN, PENNSYLVANIA 18104

Published by 1975 SENIOR CLASS

VOLUME 55

Distinctive traits and characteristics which reveal themselves throughout a year identify a class at William Allen High School. For the Senior Class, 1975 can never be duplicated and that alone adds to the anticipation of something totally fresh and memorable.

What goes into the creation of a vintage year? Hundreds of students gathering on the front lawn in a lunchtime sympathy strike for cafeteria workers, the drumming beat of hard rock vibrating in the student center, participation in a dance marathon where souls are ignited by the intensity of involvement, painting the plywood fence around the construction site canary and blue so it will more quickly become a part of our scene, shivering in the cold on the way to the gym and offering a warm hello to a new friend, struggling with a nine week course because graduation is very close, discovering that a formidable teacher is really very sympathetic - these are some of the reactions which add up to a special year for the Class of '75.

To capture these spontaneous reactions COMUS became a vehicle in which each turning of a page reveals a facet of the total life at Allen. Turn the pages and remember.

Survey records student concern

When seniors responded to a survey asking for their opinion about national and international affairs, their remarks fell into three main categories. The Middle East, government and politics and the economic issues, including the energy crisis, headed the list of special concern.

"The war between Israel and the Arabs forced my family and me to leave our native country for the United States," explained one student, "but that gave me a better chance to get the kind of education I need." Another senior noted that on several occasions he had tried to raise money for Israel.

National politics was a great issue among those about to graduate. The Watergate scandal, the President's resignation and his subsequent pardon by President Ford drew many comments. One senior noted, "My faith in the almighty gods of government has been shaken."

Another writer observed, "We are now being governed by two men who have not been elected by the people of our nation." Even so a number of students appeared optimistic about the future with a renewed trust in the government due to efforts put forth to clean out and overcome dishonesty.

The economic situation drew many responses from students. One survey response seemed to sum up the feelings of many- "Woe is me."

Other remarks detailed the situation. A young lady stated, "Inflation makes clothing, food and gas harder to buy and also it is more difficult to find a college within a reasonable price range."

For another. "The oil boycott made me realize that we are not a self-sufficient nation, but rather very dependent upon our energy sources." Still other replies noted a need to change our way of living including less dependency on the automobile.

From a rather dismal economic, energy scene one optimist was looking for, "A huge strobe light to brighten things up a bit."

1. Kyle Roth selects a record from WAHS's growing file of albums to be played on the Student Center's closed circuit system.

Student Center draws approval

The senior survey also indicated strong feeling about the Institution.

Interaction between students and instructors remained at a compatible level. In an effort to combat the cigarette habit a committee of teachers and administrators collected data for study. Students agreed, "The smoking survey showed that you still care." Another brave writer pointed out that several teachers showed an openness to criticism to help improve future classes.

All became attached to the environs of AHS. The thought of leaving after graduation became too much for one upperclassman who sighed, "I shall hate when the end comes."

"We're spread apart all the time," lamented a senior. "It's too bad we can't get closer together."

The most important event of the year was the opening of the Student Center and the Cafeteria Annex. One student summed up the feelings of the majority as he noted, "They're great! The atmosphere is so relaxing; it's a welcome break in a hectic day. And the high school's own radio station, WAHS, made lunch periods and study sessions appealing."

Allenites found the road to self-improvement still available. "I was elected secretary of a club," wrote one, "which helped me to become more organized and to get things done on time."

A young man encouraged, "If you try to get excited about things, you can do what you want and other will become involved."

One student ended his comments with a serious thought. "With each year our horizons have been expanded just from day-to-day living. Senior year has been a time of self-evaluation and planning for the future. It's as if we all are waiting on a railroad station platform, waiting for our different trains to come, though not really knowing where they're going."

Activities add varied interests

Although each day began at 8:20, no dull routine emerged; no day could be labeled identical to any other.

Innovative teaching methods shed new light on regular subjects and were excellent introductions to the newer courses. Club functions kept students busy, often extending their school hours way past three o'clock. A life of active variety triggered spontaneous reactions and launched a high level of achievement.

Outdoors spark reactions

Seasons never dampened student activities, from a spring-time car wash to snowballs in the winter months.

Allenites understood that a high school's environment is made of more than just its classroom academics; that is only part of the whole. The other is the relationships that take place among individuals.

Casual acquaintances soon grew into strong friendships. Companions braved the cold together, and also spent a few leisurely moments in idle gossip on warmer days before returning to desks and texts. Subjects that were discussed, shouted publicly or held confidential comprised the latest news, helpful advice, or accounts of weekend activities. In this way, sharing became one of many candid and spontaneous reactions.

Six classmates study abroad

Six of our students widened their horizons by studying overseas during their senior year. David Geist spent two full semesters in Denmark; Alan Baringoldz, Kathy Kushner, Sandy Mishkin, Judy Stutz and Robin Telles together spent a half-semester taking courses in Israel.

David Geist, who left the United States at the end of August, spent one month in the Danish city of Aarhus to study the native language at the Aarhus Folket Universithe. Later, he attended classes at the Rens Ungdomsskole in Bylderup-dov, a boarding high school near the German boarder of Denmark.

In one of his letters, David wrote that he was taking classes in art, music and photography in addition to Danish and the regular high school curriculum. He also reported that for a while he occupied himself with teaching other students karate and guitar. Scheduled to return this summer, David stated that his mastery of the language was increasingly becoming more fluent.

In Israel, Alan Baringoldz, Kathy Kushner, Sandy Mishkin, Judy Stutz and Robin Telles attended Beit Beryl University near Kfar Saba, for the duration of their stay. The courses which they studied were combined and titled Modern History and Western Man. Other places they visited were Masada, Tel Aviv and the Wailing Wall.

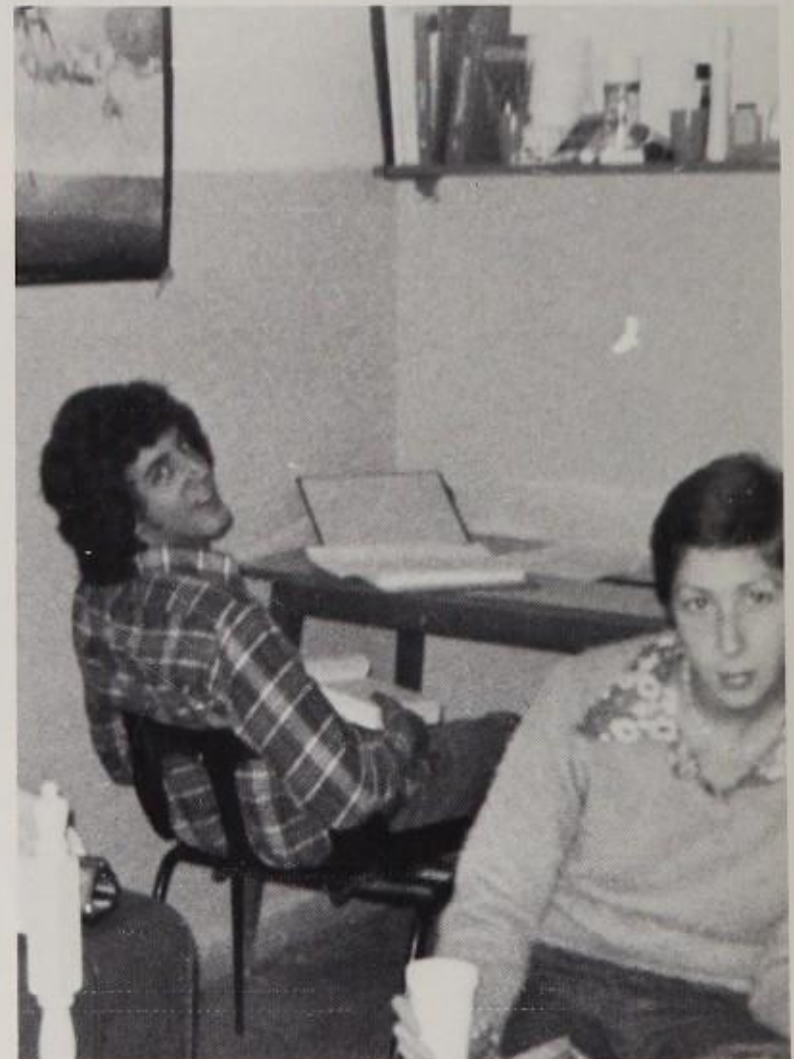

When asked if they had noticed any tension, the reply was that it was noticeable, but that it had just become a way of life. As an example, every one was searched before entering department stores, to insure security.

Summing up his feelings, Alan Baringoldz explained "We learned about something, and then went and saw it."

Judy Stutz added, "It was a chance to celebrate our own holidays instead of those of a majority culture." In retrospect, all five agreed that it was a great experience.

Each school term is individualized by the major events that make it unique. While the Federal Government tried to whip inflation, Allen's Student Government schemed to stamp out apathy. Students reacted with more enthusiasm; accelerating school spirit, fund raising, physical fitness, political involvement and all aspects of academic endeavor.

Class reelects efficient four

The class of 1975 chose wisely when they picked as their junior class officers the team of president Ted Wills, vice-president Greg Varricchio, treasurer Brad Weiner and secretary Maria Menniti. As a result of the quartet's hard work, they were reelected for another year.

Starting successfully in their junior year, the class officers sponsored ball sales and calendar sales. They continued their reign in their senior year just as successfully. During the summer prior to September, 1974, the class utilized the parking spaces provided under the Phys. Ed. center for the use of fairgoers. This project enabled the senior class to provide a Canary subscription to interested class members. During the fall of 1974, the senior class co-sponsored the first dance marathon in cooperation with the junior class.

Exchange proves valuable

At the end of August, 1973, Hanan Weiss came to A.H.S. as an exchange student from Tel Aviv, Israel. Many families made his stay here an enjoyable one as they opened doors of their homes for him.

Hanan talked about his stay here and what he learned about American people. He was quick to say, "I had no real problems adjusting, but I was confused for awhile in the beginning. There is a lot of pressure; everything affects you. I did increase my knowledge of the English language greatly and have learned much about American history through my social studies courses."

Hanan added, "I have learned a lot about life and noted American politeness and have grown up physically and mentally here in the United States."

2. Making the most of a sport he learned in Israel, Hanan practices many hours as a member on Allen's tennis team.

Art & Phys. Ed. Centers impress Soviet visitors

In January, 1975, Allen High School played host to five Soviet educators. This delegation viewed the school's teaching procedures, facilities and extra-curricular activities. The visitors were greatly impressed by the Art and Phys. Ed. Centers, and the capacity of students that they both can accommodate.

Talent abounds in Linden Wing

The Art and Music Departments were kept busy throughout the year by presenting shows and concerts to the Allentown community. The choruses sang at holiday programs while the artists displayed their talents at banks and shopping malls. The Linden wing was the habitat for Allen's fine talent and many long hours were occupied in perfecting their skills.

Spirit revived

After the first pep rally of the season, it was plain to see the apathy surrounding Allen. A SODA (Students Organized to Destroy Apathy) Committee was formed, and another pep rally was planned. Kazoos were sold, clickers were distributed, and an air of enthusiasm spread. Contests were held for forecasting scores, best decorations and signs. Everyone was involved.

1. Sally Kivert adds a touch of creativity to the signs.
2. Jim Hoch decorated not only the halls, but his clothing as well!

Coach calls rally finest

Master of ceremonies, Kyle Roth, added humor to the rally by introducing the winners. And our very own Mr. Morton Sher sharpened his wit for the event. The coaches and team were honored, and Mr. Les Kish enthusiastically suggested, "It's the finest pep rally I've seen in the five years I've been coach."

Although the game was lost to Dieruff, a new spirit of involvement was present at Allen.

1. Allen High School's own penguin, Kyle Roth, announces the events of the day.
2. The King's court, Greg Varricchio, Mike Boyer, and John Dolan stand with King Newman.
3. Mr. and Mrs. Allen Football, better known as Mike Long and Meredith Schiffman, introduce the football team.

Changes affect people, program

Members of the Allen High family saw numerous additions to their physical environment in the last three years. The Phys. Ed. Center, Student Center, and Library/Science Complex represented major and permanent change. Fund raising events, national awards, and local occurrences brought major recognition to the school as A.H.S. students made their mark upon the entire community.

1. Dr. McHugh fires the first shot in the new rifle range. This spot serves as the home of the rifle team, and replaces Raub Jr. High School's three man range.
2. Cindy Brahm, Charles Boyer and George Snyder present Dr. McHugh with a plaque in memory of Peter Beisel, a student and friend who died in a car accident. His loss was felt by all, and this plaque serves as a remembrance of him to the student body.

Extra programs inspire students

This year's study halls were somewhat different from the previous formats with the addition of Study Hall Auditorium Program Extravaganza (SHAPE). Students were given the opportunity to hear many important speakers discuss topics of great interest. It was hoped that the student feedback would give the speakers a better perspective of youth today as well as giving the students a voice to their community leaders.

Also in the spotlight was the Talent Show sponsored by the Human Relations group. The performers were members of the student body, who gave excellent displays of their abilities in the areas of music, acting and dance.

1. Greg Varricchio, Dave Skidmore and Nate Smith wait for their cue to appear on stage.
2. Dr. Grant Harrity, school board president, lectures to students in a 201 study hall.
3. Police Chief Carson Gable answers questions on many important civic matters.

Talent abounds in academics and athletics

The talent at Allen overflowed as seven seniors were named to the National Merit Scholar Semi-Finalist list. One of the members, Chris Olie, also garnered the Rensalaar Math and Science Award. In addition to these academic awards, recognition was brought to the fine athletic talent at Allen.

1. Allen's Billie Jean Kings were Cara Newman and Jan Boyce, who qualified for state competition in tennis. Showing outstanding quality in girl's field hockey, Gerry Falk was named to the Penn Jersey All-Star Team.
2. Gaining recognition for Allen's swimming team were Bev Dollar and Cathy Roberts, who represented Allen at the state meet. Carrie Jalazo and Nancy Tedesco represented Allen in diving at state finals.

1. Merit Scholarship Semi-Finalists representing Allen are Kim Wolfe, Roslyn Cohen, Ted Wills, Chris Olie, Chuck Wilson, Hope Carr and Fred Brey.
2. Football stand-outs were junior Drew Wesnak, who received plaudits as a member of the offensive first team in the Big Eight league, and Mark Benedict who was high scorer in the league with 10 touchdowns.
3. The East Penn Soccer League named seniors Gary Ginter and Mike Boyer to their first team for the 1974 season. Junior Doug Schoenberger and seniors John Donley and Jim Bachman received honorable mentions.

1. The Betty Crocker Talent Search salutes Cathy Friedman who qualified with the highest score in the talent test. Cathy exemplifies common sense, good judgment and kitchen know-how, all requirements for the award.
2. The Pennsylvania Scholastic Press Association cites Canary staffers Roslyn Cohen, Charles Wilson and John Donley for composing outstanding articles. They are showing a Call-Chronicle newspaper editor a copy of the Canary.

76 Trombones blare during extravaganza

Under the direction of Messrs. Stephen Hatzai, Charles Coster, George Boyer, and Richard Hinkle, the show of the season, Music Man, proved to be a huge success. The entire cast practiced long hours to achieve the perfection evident at all three performances. The highlight of the event was the appearance of Mr. Meredith Willson, the man responsible for the original show. Everyone was thoroughly impressed by the fine acting and singing displayed by the entire cast.

1. "I'm shot! I'm shot!" cries Mrs. Shinn, the mayor's wife, as a firecracker explodes behind her in Madison Gym.

Student Center adds variety

The Student Center opened its doors triumphantly for its debut. WAHS, the school radio station, broadcasted each period to those students using the center. Food machines and micro-wave ovens offered nourishment, while carpeting and new furniture added a comfortable atmosphere.

The Library-Science complex, quickly roofed over, became a special interest to sidewalk superintendents. The complex rose on the site formerly occupied by the Little Palestra. Where once Canary athletes drew crowds of spectators, steel girders gave indication of a future academic haven.

1. Everyone is beaming at the fast pace at which the new Library-Science complex is being built.
2. A new two-story addition to Allen's campus will soon dominate the Linden Street scene.

1. Machines offer a variety of lunches, snacks and drinks during the lunch periods.
2. Despite the constant flow of students throughout the day, the Student Center is more active during the lunch hours.
3. The Student Center serves as the assembly site for Student Council meetings.

Dolan family heads marathon

A brother and sister team of hard workers, Beth and John Dolan, made the first Dance Marathon a huge success. The event lasted twenty-four hours, and a majority of the entrants lasted the entire time. Prizes were awarded to all finalists. Steve Gable and Linda Shemella were top prize winners, each receiving a 10-speed bicycle. The money raised was divided among the senior class, bicentennial committee, and the Lehigh Valley Blind Association.

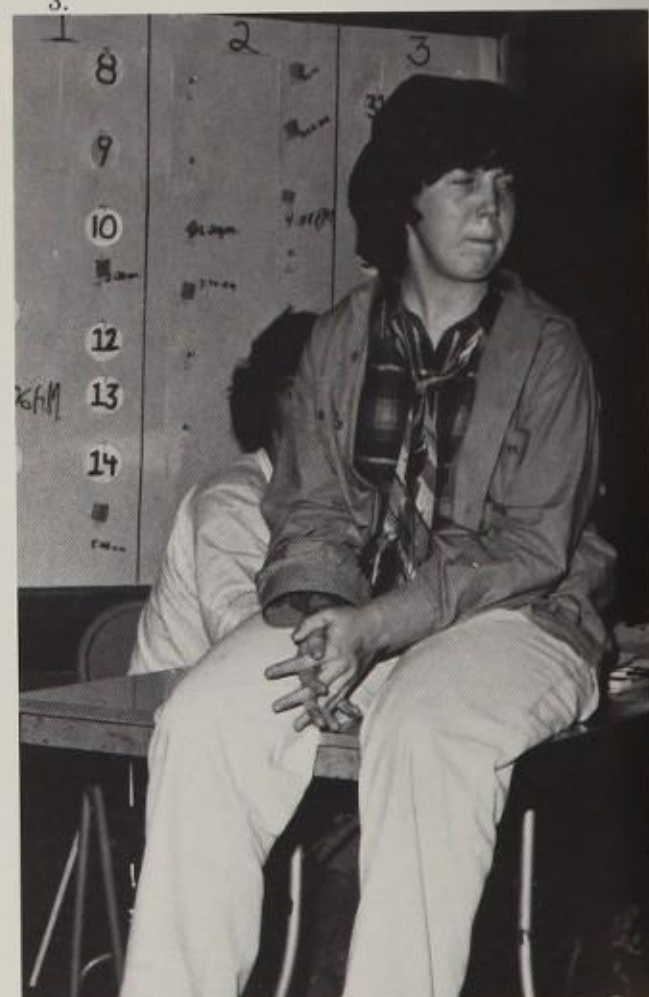

1. A variety of dances are performed during the twenty-four hour marathon beginning on Friday evening after the Emmaus football game.
2. By 4 pm on Saturday, some of the forty-four original couples have retired from the dance floor.
3. Beth Dolan keeps an eye on the participants, making sure that no extra breaks are being taken.

STUDENT Life

With the success of the new student Study Center, Allen combined a relaxed socializing mood with the atmosphere of the classroom. This combination helped to unify the school.

Clubs were busy in school and in the community in areas such as politics, scientific investigation, international study, human interests and personal relations. The academic aspect of Allen maintained its high level of excellence. Just as the Comus staff combined Activities and Curriculum into Student Life, so had Allen High School also.

Aeronauts launch projects

Under the guidance of Dr. Clewell, the Aerospace Team of Allen High School spent many Sunday afternoons in the fall launching hand-made rockets.

Although the team consisted of male members, Dr. Clewell again expressed an interest in female participation.

The members of the Aerospace Team built and launched the rockets they had constructed from pads located in country fields. Skill was developed as members learned about trajectories and flight patterns ...

Artists search for style

Devoting before and after school hours to creativity sessions, workshop artists were aided by Mr. James Musselman, Mr. Robert Blanchard and Mr. David Firestone. While learning the basic techniques in classroom study, members tested their talents by entering art and poster contests held in the area. Their best efforts also were exhibited in the Art Center gallery.

Ardent artists vary expression

Art workshop devotees practiced in varied media. Among a wide choice of challenging artistic directions, they welded statues of metal, designed in clay, fashioned jewelry, sketched figures, etched on stone and painted in oil.

Wherever their tastes took them, workshop members found a means of expressing their latent artistry and many developed a folio of interesting originals.

ASTRA steps out to serve others

Community service provided by the ASTRA stemmed from the desire to benefit others on a one-to-one basis. Weekly reading to a blind lady, participation in the Meals-on-Wheels program at Cedarbrook, and Easter decorating at Phoebe-Devitt Home gave members the opportunity to share. The staff and patients of the Pediatrics

Ward at Allentown Osteopathic Hospital responded warmly to ASTRA's initiation of a weekly game session.

An ASTRA covered-dish social, a Christmas dinner sponsored by ASTRA's mother club, ALTRUSA, and a final gathering dinner culminated the club's activities.

Varsity A club honors athletes

Varsity "A" members achieved great honors this year as a result of their outstanding efforts in sports.

The basketball team, after losing the league championship to Dieruff, came back during district playoffs to beat the cross-town team and finally capture the District 11 title.

In Boys Swimming, Dave Clark, Pete Nunan, Greg Oxley and Tim Roberts qualified for states and after tough competition, placed fourth in the 400 freestyle relay.

At the Dieruff-Allen meet, Randy Schlener received the annual Davis award for outstanding wrestling.

In girls sports, Jane Scheweyer, Martha Helm, Sue Hertz and Dorinda Gipe all qualified for State competition in gymnastics.

Dancers perform Beatles' medley

Dance club members acquired new techniques and talents on modern dance by developing grace, poise and agility. Members practiced before and after school under the supervision of Miss Peggie Bortz and president Jan Haas. Seeing a Broadway show, the girls gained insight on professional dancing.

The year's activities culminated with the annual spring dance show. The Beatles' Magical Mystery Tour was chosen as their theme. Seniors with three years experience had solo parts while others helped with the choruses.

Ten represent orchestra at district fete

1. Instrumental leaders selected ten orchestra members to play in the district gathering at Slatington, and five of these went on to the regional music festival at Marple Newtown District.

A selection committee honored Robert Crouthamel, Sue Edick, Harry Ditzel, Carolyn Mengel and Karin Brunner by naming them to the regional orchestra. Kim Wolfe, Barry Fletcher, Dawn Myer, Kathy Knapp and Jean Myers also were picked for the district affair.

The orchestra joined other musical groups in the Christmas concert and again ran a pops concert in the gym. At this musical extravaganza, the audience sat around tables, enjoying pretzels and sodas while being serenaded.

Energetic girls inspire crowd

Headed by captain Karen Hoffman, Allen High School's twelve member varsity cheerleading squad fought the never-ending battle of apathy. Even when school spirit dropped to a minimum, the squad continued to instill pep.

New gymnastic stunts were displayed at the Liberty basketball game. One new cheer which proved successful was Frankenstein. After many hours of summer practice supervised by Mrs. Doreen Fatzinger, the girls performed enthusiastically at all major sports events.

Although it was the first year at Allen for many of the Junior Varsity Cheerleaders, they excelled in spirit and ability. Headed by captain Sue Scheidler and supervised by Mrs. Doreen Fatzinger, the eight girl unit exuberantly cheered at Junior Varsity sports functions.

Band renders expert medlies

Throughout the school year, the band, directed by drum major Elizabeth Frederick and Mr. Richard Hinkle, performed in many varied programs.

In the fall the musicians played during half time of all football games. They marched in the Halloween and Christmas Parades and displayed professional talent during dozens of musical festivals. Included in the music department's Holiday Concert in December was an exhibition of the entire band's ability.

During the winter months, the band played at the numerous home basketball games. In March, Chris Ferrara traveled to Liberty High School to play his clarinet in District Band, and nine other Allen musicians also played in Regional Band. Those that went to Easton to perform, were Jane Allison, Rob Crouthamel, Harry Ditzel, Ed Edick, Sue Edick, Barry Fletcher, Dawn Myer, Rhonda Rhodes and Kim Wolfe. Sue Edick and Rob Crouthamel achieved the honor of going to Pittsburgh for State Band. And to conclude this year's activities, the band played a processional while the senior class of Allen marched into the gym for Commencement.

Cavaliers host jazz festival

The Canary Cavaliers, Allen's dance band, enjoyed its recent gain in local popularity. Focusing around a more contemporary motif, the Canary Cavaliers performed rock and jazz music.

The Canary Cavaliers hosted a jazz festival in March with six other bands and special guest star Phil Woods, a popular jazz musician. The players have acquired recognition throughout the Lehigh Valley for their excellence in music.

The Concert Band established itself as an excellent musical group, performing scores ranging from Bach to rock. The spring concert, held in April, was a tremendous success.

Reporters Chirp

Representing the student body as a voice of all school and current events, the Canary served the purpose of relaying all important news to the students at Allen.

A very capable and diligent staff, advised by Mrs. Frances Bixler, worked long hours to gather pertinent information. The 1975 newspaper staff included three state-wide winners.

Staff makes it

A devoted staff, burrowing into the dark recesses of the Linden Street Wing, pounded out this yearbook. Prodded and inspired by advisers Mr. David Firestone and Mr. Warren Keller, members toiled before, during and after school and even while classmates were on vacation. Songsters attend Regional Chorus

In April Allen hosted students from 56 high schools attending the Regional II State Chorus. Professor Iva D. Hiatt of Smith College wielded the baton as guest conductor.

During the past year the 120 voice choir, directed by Mr. George Boyer, performed for the Kiwanis and General Acceptance Corporation. It also made numerous appearances throughout the community for civic projects.

School productions included the Christmas and Spring Concerts. The choir, known for its skilled presentations, continued to offer music ranging from Baroque to modern show tunes.

Girls warble melodious tunes

The Allen Glee Club, comprising sixty female voices, continued its fine choral repertoire through numerous performances including a concert in December and another later in April. They also sang with the Allentown Juvenile Band during the holiday season.

Mrs. Lois Bitler guided the dulcet vocalists from sacred and classical arias to pop and rock tunes. By viewing a musical on Broadway in May, the Glee Club gained insight on professional singing.

Chess Team uses strategy to win

Members of the Allen Chess Team strove for perfection in their matches. Under the guidance of Mr. Robert Maza, the team members built a solid foundation in the theory and mechanics of chess. Every Thursday afternoon they competed in interscholastic tournaments throughout Pennsylvania and New Jersey. President Russell Mann felt that the Chess Team displayed great determination in its campaign for excellence.

Members discuss current events

The Contemporary Affairs Club initiated active discussions on various political controversies concerning national, state and local affairs. Guest speakers representing different levels of government aroused a sense of political awareness for club members. Among the speakers were Pennsylvania state Senatorial Candidates Henry Messinger (D) and Charles Snelling (R); Messinger later won the election. Also speaking before the club was Peter Flaherty; Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate. Student concern was evident by the very active membership.

Ecologists aid environment

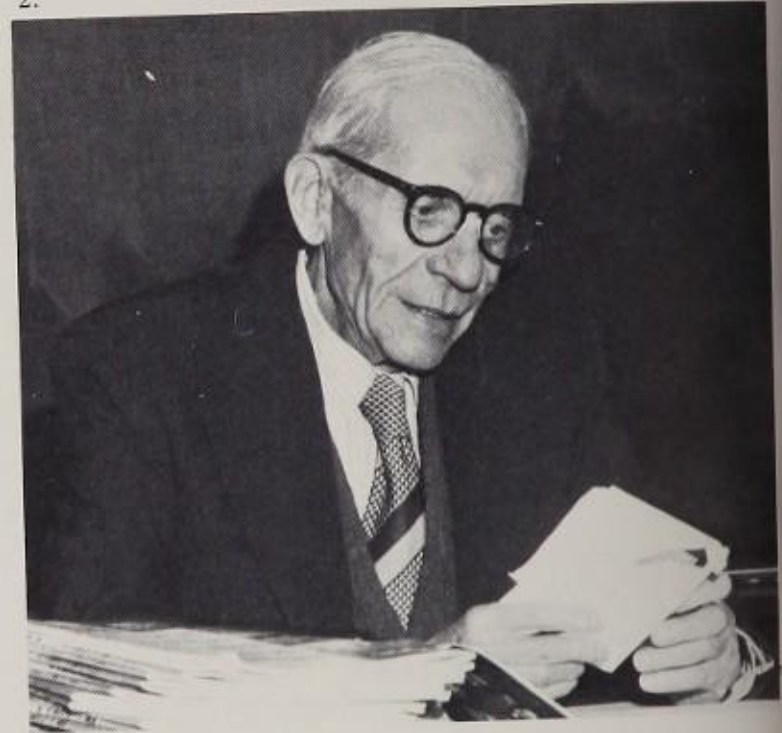

The Ecology Action Club invested its time on many varied projects concerning our environment.

By acting as tour guides for a haunted barn, the club members helped to raise money for the Lehigh Valley Conservancy, a new corporation formed to maintain land in its natural state.

Dr. Francis J. Trembley, a Lehigh professor and well known conservationist, spoke to the club members in January. The club also sponsored a dirty picture contest.

Human Relations gains support

Human Relations Club got things started early in the year with an ethnic dish social followed by a talent show that became an assembly program. In March, a student exchange involving ten area high schools brought five representatives of each school to Allen where the Human Relations group played host.

Every Wednesday, President Tish Kaiser led a rap session which featured discussions with Lindsey Crawford, coordinator of the community's Human Relations Commission and Selma Telles, a board member of the commission.

Club schedule pushes members

Key Club threw itself into a series of service projects that kept members involved on a weekly basis.

Known for its handsome ushers, the club served at the Allentown Hospital's Junior Aids concert; the Festival of Bands, which was sponsored for the mentally handicapped, and at numerous school affairs.

Members participated at several Christmas parties put on for children of the Day Care Centers and also helped set up the Miller Blood-Mobile for its visit to Allen in December.

The Club guided sophomores in September, delivered newspapers for the Canary staff, sold patron support for the yearbook, visited area churches as a group, moved books for AAUW and spent a day with a Kiwanian in Project Shadow.

In March twenty-two participants from Allen attended the Pennsylvania District Key Club Convention in Philadelphia.

Leos aim at civic service

The Leo Club, a select group of responsible young men, centered their activities around being available to help anyone in the school or community.

Members of the club took part in a car washing project to raise money for their various community assignments.

They invited the children from the Lehigh Valley Blind Association to Dorney Park, and helped the Association with its spring cleaning. They were also very helpful collecting money for the Meals on Wheels project at Christmas. At school the members helped with the dance marathon.

"I hope through working with projects in the community these boys will become aware of the problems of those less fortunate," noted their adviser, Ronald Theiss.

Coed clan peps gym functions

Leaders Club, a sports-minded, ambitious and concerned association of girls assisted in most coed athletic events. They spotted gymnasts, played scoring roles in basketball and hockey games and printed signs for Pep Rallies.

The Leaders gave parties for the students at LARC, the young people of Wiley House and the elderly at Cedarbrook. The club raised money for these events by sponsoring a November dance and selling candy on two occasions.

To finish out their very busy year, the girls gathered at a May breakfast and a club banquet.

Language clubs consolidate

At the start of the year, the Spanish Honor Society, German, French and Italian clubs joined to form a single organization. Under the supervision of Mrs. Zanchettin and Miss Capcovic, the International Club sponsored a Christmas card contest and an assembly.

After the return of Dr. Diaz, the Spanish Honor Society was restarted.

Activities included an essay contest and fundraisers. Despite a late start, the society had very good programs.

NHS aids others

Tutoring services were offered by members of National Honor Society to students that needed help scholastically. NHS members also volunteered their free time to aid college bound students in preparation for Scholastic Aptitude Tests.

Under the supervision of Mr. Robert Egolf, activities throughout the year included a dance after the Central Catholic basketball game, inductions, and an annual trip.

Processing and printing black and white film in the photography lab, members of the Photo Club cashed in almost immediately with better quality prints. As club members set up a routine for quality control and learned the rules of taking good photographs, their glossies were in more demand throughout the school. The nucleus of shutterbugs became a vital part of the yearbook staff, taking a vast majority of the candid pictures appearing in the 1975 Comus.

Volunteers run busy snack stop

With the closing of the Distributive Education program at Allen, a volunteer group staffed the school store. Senior girls enrolled in Business Education gave up study periods to clerk in the popular basement store. All of the girls were students of Mrs. Mary Lessig who guided the enterprise. Volunteers not only served as salespersons, but also requisitioned supplies, ran an inventory and kept the books.

WAHS operators work diligently

While the hungry ate lunch and listened to the music played from the radio station, Allen disc jockeys worked hard to produce well balanced sound. The albums that were played, which varied from classical to hard rock, were donated by numerous companies. Members of the station's crew toiled during study halls and lunch periods to make these times enjoyable for everyone.

Force lights up

Lighting and sound techniques handled by the stage crew were widely used during the year. Orientation, class elections, Christmas programs and Music Man were a few among the various times this team helped out in productions. Headed by adviser, Mr. Hambor, and co-captains, Keith Meeker and Thomas Houck, the squad membership was increased to a total of twelve males. The work involved in one performance includes working the stage lights, spotlights and sound equipment; listening for cues and timing the devices expertly.

SGA represents student body

The Student Government Association attempted to achieve more school spirit and greater student participation. With the opening of the student center and radio station, WAHS, the SGA aided in running the center in the best interest of faculty-student relations.

Other projects included: Christmas and Chanukah decorations, a grounds beautification program, bike racks for cyclists and the Beatles' movie, Magical Mystery Tour. Fundraising was a success with the candy sale.

Adviser Charles Devine, President Mark Booz, Vice-President Kyle Roth, Secretary Robin Warshawsky and Treasurer Jeff Glazier expressed gratification for the association's accomplishments this year.

Student life still centers on curriculum

Although the onlooker saw much spontaneous reaction in sports, activities and student social mixing, the center of school life revolved around the all-important curriculum here on the campus and at Vo-Tech classes at Schnecksville.

The vast majority of student time was spent in classrooms preparing for post high school study or learning a trade. English, science, mathematics, social studies, language, homemaking, business subjects, shop studies, art and music still demanded much attention as classmates scheduled their year at Allen.

Students expand talents in art

Art students became accustomed to more familiar surroundings after the first anniversary of the art center in the Linden Street Wing. Mr. James Musselman, Mr. David Firestone and Mr. Robert Blanchard offered aspiring artists instruction in two dimensional design, drawing, painting, pottery, welding for metal sculpture, jewelry design, photography, printmaking and art appreciation.

On pleasant days interested students sketched scenes in the neighborhood. The more involved artists painted, carved or turned a pottery wheel early in the morning and at special sessions after school.

1. Four eager artists, Jane Schlegel, Carol Stamatakos, Mike Tedesco and Jeff Trainer outline their assigned drawings in sketch class.

English adds to individuality

Students found one variety of English courses offered a sure victory over classroom boredom. Concentration was placed not only on the traditional areas of literature, writing and grammar, but in the contemporary aspects of journalism, communications and drama. With the help of visual aides, students gained a better insight on the subject matter.

The beginning of the year was marked by Robert Egolf's assignment to English Department head.

1. Reviewing for the college boards, Louise Pollizoto labors over vocabulary exercises.

Wanted-more language pupils

Foreign language departments in schools of this area have lost teachers and some departments dropped a language as a result of fewer students picking a foreign tongue as a part of their curriculum.

This was in part a direct result of colleges dropping language requirements over the past years.

At the same time Allen's language department made special efforts to keep students involved with a foreign language. "I am sure that every teacher in the department," emphasized Mr. Willard Haas, Chairman, "is constantly seeking new approaches in imparting certain types of knowledge and in developing language skills."

Two plus two equals plenty

The expanded mathematics program offered a wider diversity of courses. For the business or technical students, these courses included Consumer Mathematics, Measurements, Principles of Algebra and Principles of Geometry. With this type of background young people concerned with vocational training prepared for many ciphering problems in everyday situations.

Individualized instruction in limited cases allowed some students to work at their own pace and taught self-discipline in completing assignments. However, college bound students claimed the structured, traditional mathematics courses still provided the most disciplined program available.

Musical groups add to the beat

The reputation of our musical groups brought many invitations from community organizations and festival sponsors to show their well-established talent.

The band again was invited to take part in the Salute to Israel parade in New York City. It competed in a series of band exhibitions taking a third place in New York.

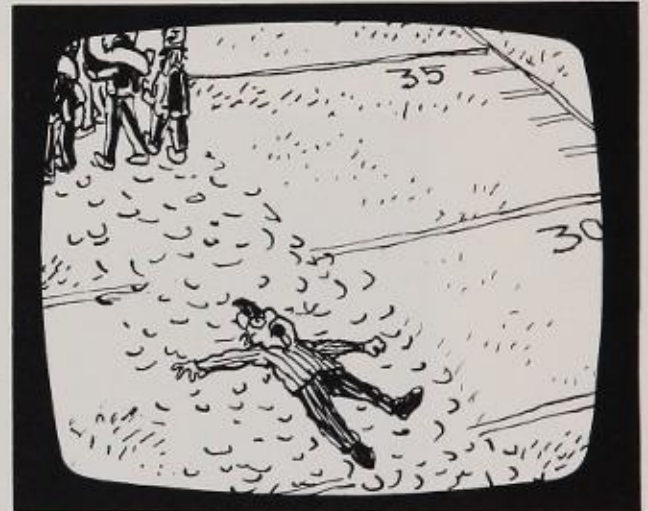

Choir and Glee Club entertained at a series of concerts, the Christmas season highlighting public appearances for the vocalists.

Many talented people closely associated with the music department participated in the premier show of the year, Music Man.

1. Mr. Richard Hinkle points out the yard line where the majorettes are supposed to stand.

Underclassmen patiently await lab completion

Underclassmen, looking forward, expressed interest in the opening of the new science facilities, scheduled for classes in September, 1975. The second floor complex above the library on Linden Street will offer universal laboratories for advanced study in chemistry and physics.

After the move of the science labs, the biology department, which will remain in the main building, expects extensive renovations including a greenhouse and animal study area.

Mini-Courses are alternatives

Social Studies Department stressed diversity of offerings. Through the series of mini-courses, students were given a wide variety of subjects in many fields of study, such as Politics, Economics, Psychology, and Civil Rights and Civil Liberties. Concentration upon the merging of the theoretical and the practical gave students a better understanding of the application of ideas.

Stressing the contemporary social scene enabled students to acquire the technique and tools with which to better control the environment in which they live.

Courses provide life training

The teachers of the Occupational Education Department provided actual work experiences preparing students for the world they will encounter after graduation.

Classmates also enrolled at Vo-Tech for such diverse courses as food service, auto mechanics, building maintenance, and fashion design. Visiting various industries, they broadened their awareness of career opportunities.

1. Robert Ebert, Rick Fratacelli and Dan Mason work with leather as Mr. Sniscak helps.
2. Mr. Richard Sniscak, demonstrates for William Alier how to punch designs in leather.
3. Mr. Homer Haaf, Mr. Richard Sniscak, Mrs. Aline Shipwreck and Mr. Robert Maza try their hands at leather craft.

Staff plans library move

Providing an outstanding service for young people on an eight to four basis on school days, the library and its staff spent a final year at the main building second floor site.

Librarian Sterling Williams, his secretary and student aides indicated they were anticipating a busy first year in the Linden Street complex. However, no one looked forward to moving the thousands of books and records to new shelves.

1. Two involved researchers seek information for an independent study project.
2. Robert Held relaxes while he scans a book at a library study table.

Vo-Tech creates opportunities

The Lehigh County Vocational Technical School provided an excellent facility for students' practical application of various occupations. The surroundings of the Vo-Tech created an atmosphere similar to that of a real job.

Opportunities offered range from carpentry and electronics to cosmetology and horticulture. After graduation, students will be well qualified to enter their specific job field.

Industrial Arts key on trades

Those students not involved in the vocational curriculum were given during industrial art classes the opportunity to acquaint themselves with tools and equipment used in industrial trades and in the home. Students enrolled in fabrication skillfully constructed furniture of their choice. Graphic Arts provided students with the opportunity to experiment with the various medias in the printing area including typesetting, silk screening, linoleum and photography. During the past few years electronics has enjoyed much popularity.

Guys and girls get involved

The new physical education department proved to be a valuable asset to active students. The addition of new programs encouraged pupils to get involved in activities during after school hours as well as their regular classes. Instructors stood ready to teach the fundamentals of various sports and to aid each individual in improving his own unique style. Group participation was constant on the gym floor. In swimming classes, scuba divers explored the practical usage of underwater equipment. The universal gym, with isometric machines, strengthened the muscles of many. Allen's faculty and student body found to their delight, that physical education is a round-the-clock affair.

The image of Allen's athletic program ranks with its reputation for excellent academic standards. This provides for diversity among the students. Reacting to their need for well-rounded personalities, Allen classmates demonstrated more enthusiasm for the 1974-1975 sports schedule. Contributing to the success was the program's wide sampling of sports; including tennis, swimming, football, hockey, soccer, golf, basketball, track, cross country, gymnastics and baseball.

SPORTS

Faces mirror spontaneous reactions

Sports incorporate a multitude of emotions for all those involved in a active function. The game or event acts as a stimulus to players, coaches, and fans, and they react to the immediate conditions of play. The athletes experience determination, concentration, and finally jubilation or remorse. The coaches feel tension, concern, and satisfaction or depression. The fans shout out their enthusiasm, compassion, vibrance. All these reactions are reflected by facial expressions—expressions that speak emotions. The emotions are spontaneous, since the atmosphere changes constantly as the score changes. Sports is unpredictable.

Intramurals supply extra

Intramurals, a program for both boys and girls, offered various after-school sports, not all of which were also played on the varsity level. Unlike the varsity and JV teams, anyone who enjoys playing could enter intramurals. A person's ability was not considered; the only requirement for joining an intramural sport was signing on the roster usually found in the locker rooms.

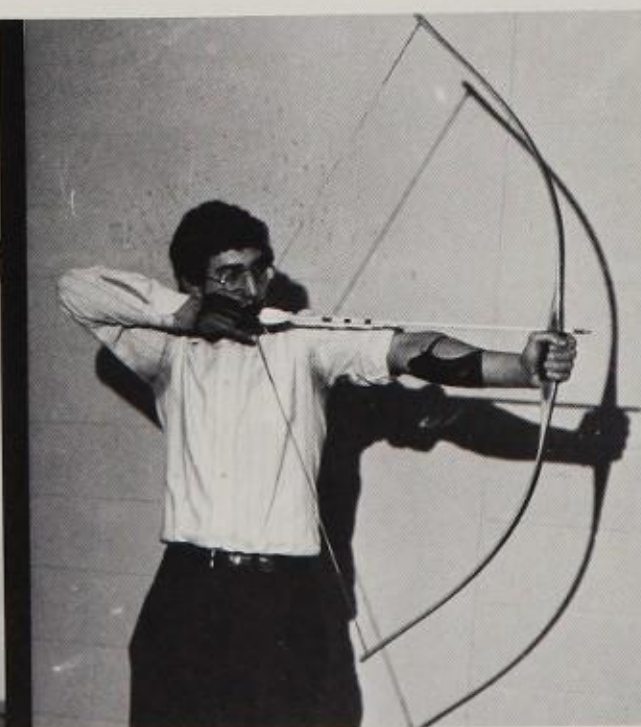

Intramural participants meet every day after school at their convenience. For those who enjoy not only playing but also competing, playoffs were held. Charm keys were awarded to the winners and champions.

Mr. Homer Haaf was in charge of most of the boys' sports, including archery, golf, foul shooting, and rifle. In the fall and spring, Mr. William Kleckner supervised weight lifting, a popular sport which drew thirty boys and girls a night. All four girls' gym teachers coached girls' sports, including ping pong, bowling, fencing, softball, and track.

Volleyball joins varsity

Volleyball just moved into the varsity ranks in the spring of 1974. The decision to treat it as a varsity sport was influenced by an Allen team two years ago which entered a District tournament. This tournament was open to any school, whether or not it considered volleyball a varsity sport. Allen won the tournament, and since such fine interest and enthusiasm was shown, the varsity title was applied.

This year's team competed in the East Penn Scholastic Volleyball League. After a slow start, it finished with a 19-23 record. The team was led by captain Phil Reitz, Steve Carl, Gary Ginter, Kevin Kercher, and Larry Weinsheimer.

In the District tournament the team defeated Emmaus, Wilson and Liberty before losing to Freedom and a later game to Liberty. The young team managed to finish with a surprising third place standing.

Track team explodes for winning season

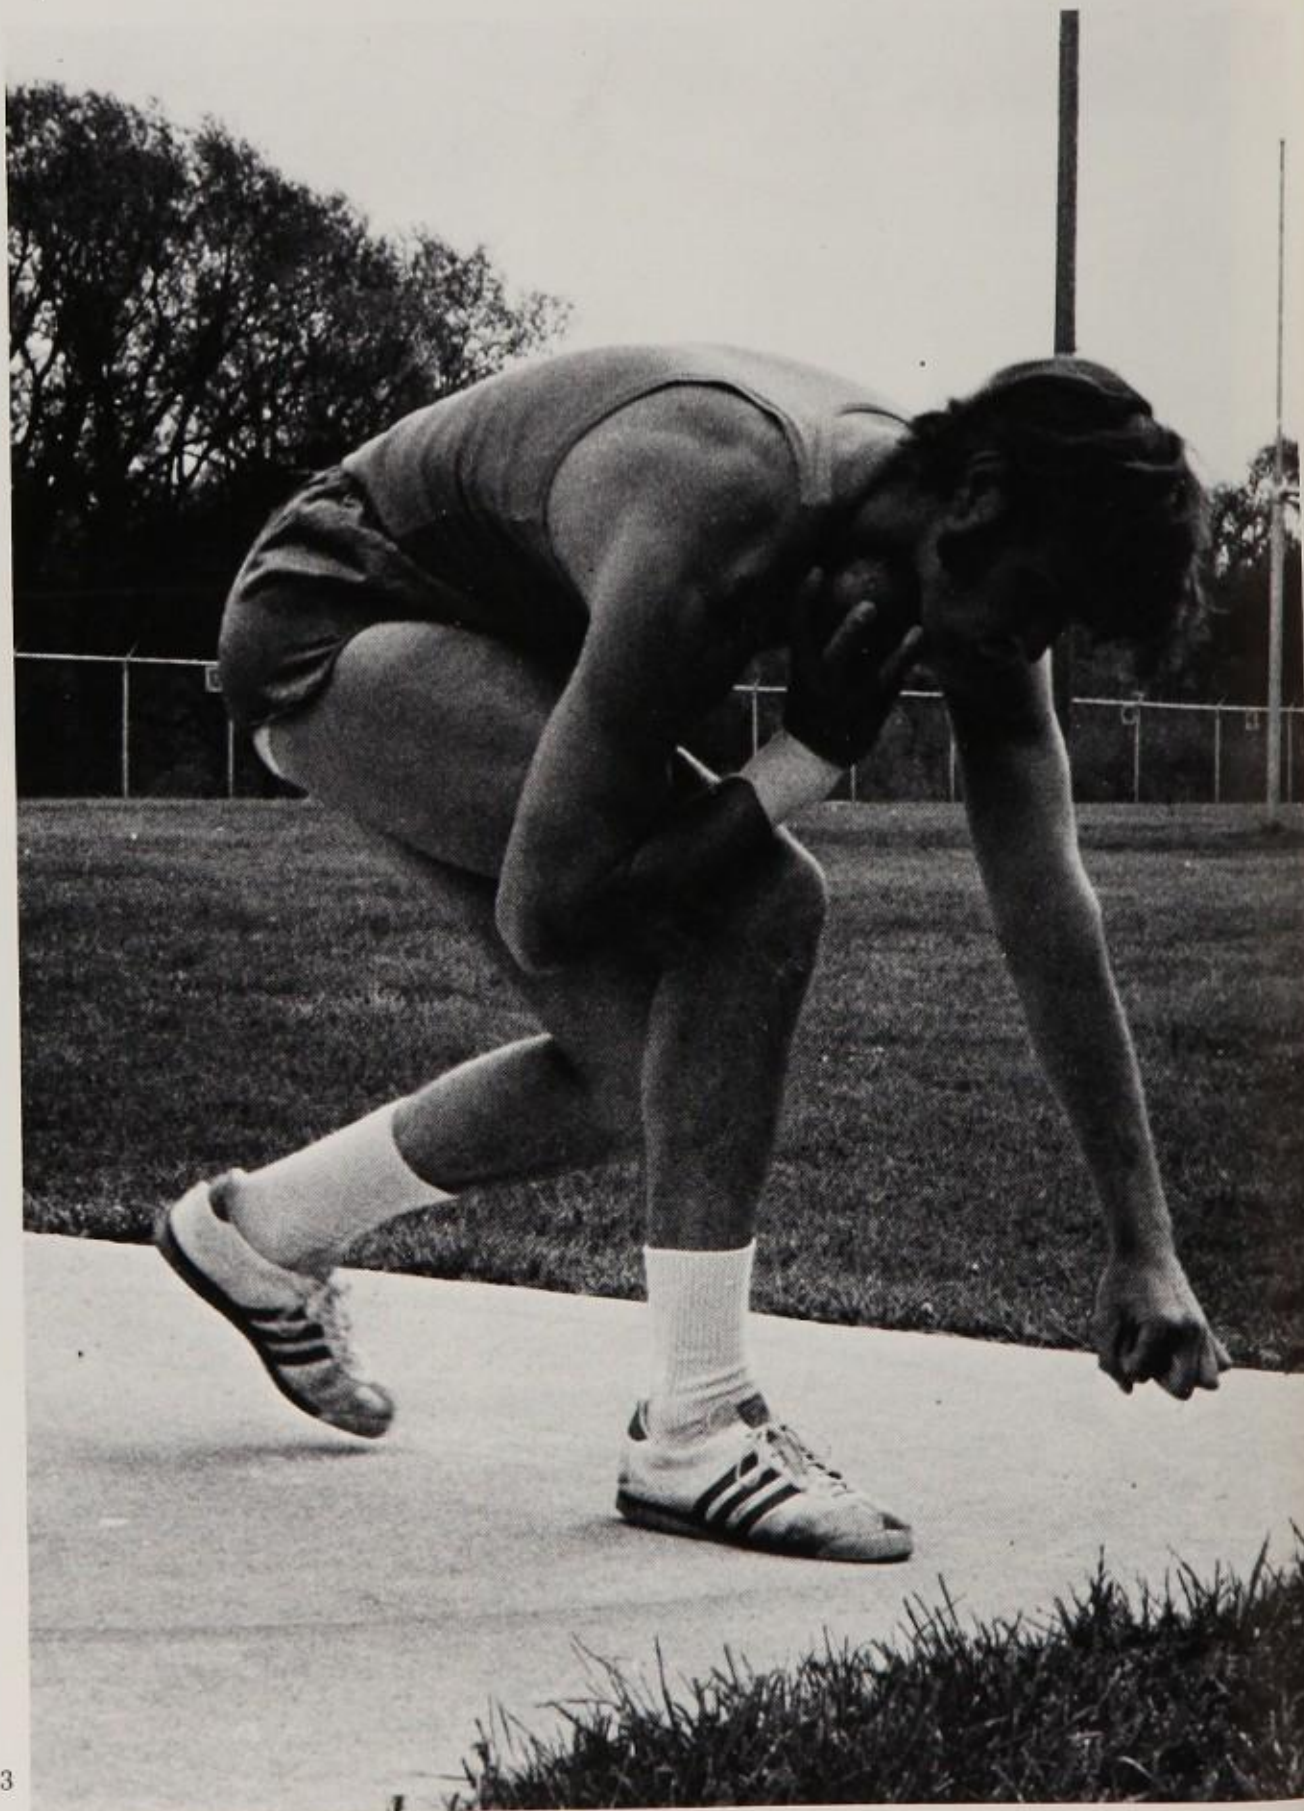

After winning its first four meets, the 1974 track team took third place in the East Penn League. An excellent 7-3 record was highlighted by strong individual scores in both the league and District XI meets. Record-setters were Charles Trimpey, who captured both firsts and set a school and district record of 163'6" in the discus throw, and Frank Wagner, a two-miler who placed second in the EPL and in Districts, while setting a school record of 9:51.5.

At Districts, Mark Scheuer took first place in the mile; Rick Middleton and Nate Smith captured second and third, respectively, in the long jump; and Jeff Ringer placed third in the 100-yard dash.

Allen's mile relay team, which consisted of Gerry Schultz, Frank Alexa, Mark Scheuer, and Chris Nunan, placed first in both the EPL and District XI. Scheuer and Nunan, along with Joe Boddie and Bruce Vogel, also ran on the two-mile team, to capture a first in the league and a second in districts. The team was well-balanced in all events.

Records reach enviable height

The Canary tennis team continued its renowned record of success by capturing the 1974 East Penn League championship with a 11-0 season.

Several players were cited as outstanding for their contributions to the team, particularly Dave Kusko, who in his sophomore and junior years took the District 11 Singles Championship and placed fifth in the PIAA State Meet in singles competition. He compiled a magnificent overall record of 40-1 in both singles and doubles. His doubles partner Dave Mantell, who was a master at backhand, also held enviable records of 39-2 in singles and 45-1 in doubles.

Brian Mitchell and Paul Evans performed as a very capable doubles team, but individually they had the ability to play singles on almost any team in the East Penn. Two other worthy players were Hanan Weiss and Chris Olie, who both added vital team points during tough matches.

Allen takes EPL Championship

1974 was a winning year for the mittmen, who attained a 13-4 overall record. They captured the East Penn League Championship, aided by a strong returning nucleus of lettermen.

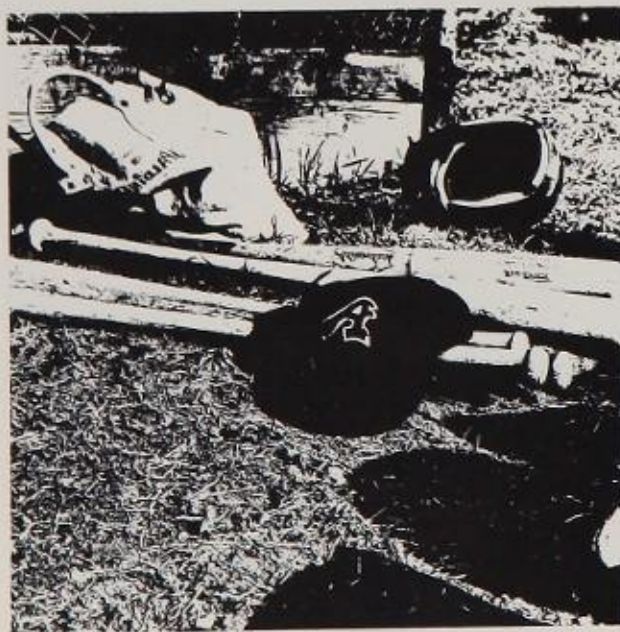

Especially helping the team were juniors Scott Troxell (.308) and Bob Kucharczuk (.326), who were both nominated to the 2nd Team All-League.

The Canaries exhibited many impressive wins, including a 15-0 shutout over Central Catholic, but the climax of their season came in the final game against Dieruff. With the Huskies ahead 1-0, senior Keith Kovacs smashed a three-run homer in the sixth inning. This gave Allen a 3-1 decision which advanced them to the District XI quarterfinals against Parkland.

Barry Hoffman and Dave Suder pitched well in the play-off game. Other players earning special recognition were seniors Al Ottinger, Bob Frederick, and Bob Lerner for making the 1st Team All-League.

Golf is reborn

The golf team experienced a double switchover this year. Former coach Mr. Robert Stimmel retired and was replaced by Mr. George Somich, and in addition, the sport was moved from a spring to a fall schedule.

Golfers commented on their new coach, saying that he was a very able instructor who knew what his team needed and wanted. Everyone was more than satisfied with the season change, since the weather was warmer and courses were in better condition. Most of the boys had been practicing over the summer, and their scores were noticeably lower.

Although the team was very young, with three of the six starting players on the team for the first time, their 10-4 record was better than last year's 4-3 season. Mike Rockmaker and Tom Fenstermacher, both sophomores, Dan Radcliffe, a freshman, and Jeff Perlis, the only starting senior, were the most consistent in hitting low scores. The many returning players should prove to be an asset in the next two years.

Booters improve in mid-season

Allen captured third place in the City Division of the Eastern Scholastic Soccer League, as they finished behind the two Bethlehem schools and ahead of Easton and Dieruff. Several outstanding individuals were cited for the fine efforts they made throughout the year, particularly Mike Boyer, who in 1973 was named to the Second Team of the Eastern Scholastic Soccer League All-Stars.

Jim Bachman was leading goal scorer with eight and first in total points with nine. Doug Shoenberger, a talented junior, was right behind him with eight points. Goalie Gary Ginter, who was also named to the All-Star team, permitted no more than one goal to be scored against him in nine of fourteen games and achieved the enviable record of three shutouts. He shared the position of captain with Boyer and center defenseman John Donley.

Enhancing the consistent 6-7-1 team record were a three-game win streak in the middle of the season and 2-1 and 4-0 victories over rival Dieruff.

Runners charge to top season

Allen made quite a showing this year, placing second in the league with a nearly perfect 7-1 record. The team won every home meet, losing only to District Champ Easton. The Canaries came in third in Districts and tied for third with Lehigh in a Tri-League meet involving nineteen other high schools.

Mark Scheuer was the Canaries' star runner. He took first in every dual meet, with the exception of Easton, while breaking or tying several records. One such instance was at Bethlehem Catholic where he set a course record of 13:30. The team also scored exceptionally well against Becahi, with Allen runners finishing in the first eight positions.

Scheuer finished fifth in the Tri-League meet and seventh in Districts, just missing by 30 inches a berth in the state meet. Four other Allen runners also scored high in Districts, giving the team its best finish since Coach Davis assumed his post. John Dolan placed 17th, Doug Lieberman placed 19th, Bruce Vogel was 20th, and Joe Boddie, who is known for his strong finishing kick, came in 23rd. Coach Michael Davis said, "This year's team is one of the best balanced, hardest working units I have ever coached."

Individuals are singled out

Allen's girls had a victorious season, losing only their opening meet against Emmaus and a later one to undefeated Easton. Cathy Roberts and Bev Dollar led the team with Kim Stuart as tri-captains. Cathy surged to records in the 50 and 100 freestyle, and Bev did likewise in the 100 breaststroke. Undefeated in league action in the 50, Cathy was involved in eight records, pool, school, or league, and she placed first in the 100 and second in the 50 freestyle at Districts. Bev helped set a total of five pool or school records. Her best time in the breaststroke was 1:16.7, which missed the league record by .4 seconds. Like Cathy, she qualified for States by placing second in the 100 breaststroke at Districts.

Bev's sister Pam came in third at Districts in two events and narrowly missed competing in the state meet since only the top two finishers in each race continued. Representation by Allen was completed with sophomore Nancy Tedesco and junior Carrie Jalazo finishing first and second, respectively, in one meter diving.

New lineup works out 5-5 season

Les Kish had five weeks to completely build a football team. Eighteen starters from last year's 8-2 squad graduated, and he was left with only six lettermen. The Canaries were not expected to perform too efficiently as a team, but they won their opener 31-15 over Reading and finished the season at an even 5-5. In addition, seven players were given Big 8 All-Star Honorable Mention. Tailback Mark Benedict made 2nd Team Big 8 and AP Honorable Mention All-State, and wide receiver Drew Wesnak was named to the 1st Team Big 8 All-Stars.

One player who made honorable mention was quarterback Bob Hefe. He threw the ball 125 times and completed on 52 of them for 806 yards and six touchdowns. His target was usually Drew Wesnak, a junior with 37 pass receptions who accumulated 730 yards and scored four touchdowns.

In addition to passing, Hefe carried the ball for 273 yards and three touchdowns. He usually handed off to Benedict, who carried a remarkable 140 times for a 679 yard total and a 4.9 yard average per carry. Benedict scored ten times, and kicker Jeff Bartges booted 16 of 18 extra point tries and two field goals.

Probably the most thrilling game was the 13-7 victory over Neshaminy. Allen was behind 7-6 with 1:45 left to play when the Lions attempted a punt. Duane Miller rushed in to block it and Pat Miller recovered the ball in the end zone, giving Allen a surprise win.

Both of the Millers made honorable mention on the All-Star team along with Hefe, Greg Varricchio, Chuck Harmony, Ken Whary, and Tim Schwalm.

JV team hurt by tough breaks

Although the JV's closed their season 3-5, this record did not truly indicate the caliber of player that made up the team.

In the beginning of the year, the boys were very competitive with most of the other competing schools. But by the end of the season, injuries were heavy and several of the better players were elevated to varsity. This caused the JV team to suffer.

The highlight of the season was the relatively easy win over Central Catholic. The victory was made even more pleasant in light of the fact that the school is a cross-town rival. Scott Long scored three touchdowns, two on runs and one on a pass from Jim Amey.

Chris Funk added two more td's to make the final score 34-0. Harry Jones headed the defense as he sparked several Central Catholic fumbles.

Chris Funk also scored twice against Dieruff, and he and Long combined for two against Becahi. Another notable player was Rory King, an excellent pass-receiver. Several of those who excelled in defense to provide protection for the players who starred were Steve Ott, Randy Fritchman, Tim Dolan, and Frank Reichl.

1. Center Steve Ott awaits the call of his quarterback Tom Bundra before hiking the ball.
2. In the game against Phillipsburg, Jim Bennett achieves a yardage gain for Allen.

Duo qualifies for States

This year's tennis team consisted mainly of juniors, and so Coach Sher is looking forward eagerly to next year's season. He was extremely proud of the team's effort this year, however, because the girls demonstrated admirable courage and spirit. The 9-6 season, although not spectacular, was highlighted by the performances of several starters.

Jan Boyce and Cara Newman were definite standouts. Jan represented Allen in the District singles matches, and she teamed with Cara in District doubles. Together they defeated Parkland and Southern Lehigh and advanced to finals. Although they lost to Liberty, the duo competed in the PIAA State Championships in May.

Other outstanding players were Judy Pidcock, her doubles partner Audrey Trinkle, and lone senior, Pat Welty.

Tough opponents blank girls' hockey record

"They might have outscored us, but we outplayed them," stated Coach Gail Koch. The very tough season which confronted the girls' field hockey team explains why they amassed a dismal record of 0-6.

Although the team was unable to excel as a whole, several individual players were standouts. Senior Gerry Falk was selected as a halfback for the Penn-Jersey All Star Hockey Team. Kara Coleman, a left wing, scored a beautiful goal in the Phillipsburg game, assisted by Terry Ricapito. Janice Maiatico was outstanding in her last game against Dieruff.

Other players who worked hard for the team were Donna Eisenhard, Donna Reimert, Ticia Connelly, and Shirley Knecht. Jane Boehm and Terry Ricapito did excellent jobs as co-captains.

5-overtime game unforgettable

Mr. John Donmoyer graduated from JV to Varsity coach this year when coach Milo Swards was appointed athletic director. He described the Canaries as being "a delight to have as my first team" as they scrambled to a 14-8 season. They bettered their 5-4 first half record of 7-2 in the second half and met the 60% win requirement to qualify for District play-offs. They tied for second-half champ with Dieruff and Pottsville but were defeated 66-65 in a tight contest with the cross-town rival. The loss was difficult to take since Allen had beaten Dieruff twice before in league action. The first encounter resulted in a grueling five overtimes which, after two hours and 35 minutes, was ended by a 15 foot jump shot by Tom Stenack with four seconds left on the clock, Allen winning 71-69. Roy Schuetz led Allen in scoring with 282 points. Directly behind him were Steve Carl with 268 and Erick Marshall with 255. Providing good floor play and tough defense were seniors Rick Middleton, Jeff Trainer, Nate Smith, Gary Ginter and Jace Wagner; and juniors Chuck Bachert and Tom Stenack.

J V cager champs end season 20-2

Leo Stinner coached JV ball awhile back, but left the Canaries to take on a head coaching job. After returning to Allen, he later became interested in his old job. His first year was successful as he helped lead the team to an EPL Championship. All of his players were outstanding; nine to ten boys played each game. Dave Saylor was leading scorer with 305.

The most crucial games were the final two against Pottsville and Freedom. Both were away, and if Allen had lost either one, they would have tied for the league title with Dieruff. But the cagers did well even under pressure and ended their season 20-2.

Chicks rebound brilliantly

Returning from a first half record of 5-4, the improved Chicks played a strong 8-1 second half. Highlighting the comeback were key victories over St. Francis, Notre Dame and Dieruff.

With 2 seconds left in the St. Francis game, Donna Reimert made a shot which sent the game into overtime. Underclassmen Jill Jeffrey and Jane Semler then connected with 6 of 7 foul shots to win the game. Against Notre Dame, the Chicks played great defense, holding the #1 and #2 scorers in the league to a total of 14 points. Highlighting the second half was the win over Dieruff at the buzzer.

A four-overtime loss to Central Catholic, a state girls record, forced a second half play-off with Dieruff. The Chicks fought gallantly against a tall Dieruff team but lost 47-41.

Co-captains Ticia Connelly and Ticker Rothrock led the team in scoring and rebounding in first half play. But as the season progressed, Jill Midget Jeffrey gained over 250 points to become scoring leader. The team was one of the smallest in the league, no starter over 5-7, but it had hustle. Coach Sabler described them as "the most dedicated bunch I ever directed in my sixteen years of coaching basketball."

Swimmers break record times

Keeping abreast of the rising competition, Allen placed second in the league, losing only to Emmaus. They qualified their freestyle relay in Districts, sending four boys to States.

Tim Roberts, Greg Oxley, Pete Nunan, and Dave Clark made up the foursome. Roberts took three gold medals at Districts, breaking two records in each of his events. He shattered the District record held by the famed Charlie Norelli with a :22.2 in the 50-freestyle and did a :49.4 in the 100-freestyle. Throughout the year, he broke an amazing 28 pool and school records in five different events.

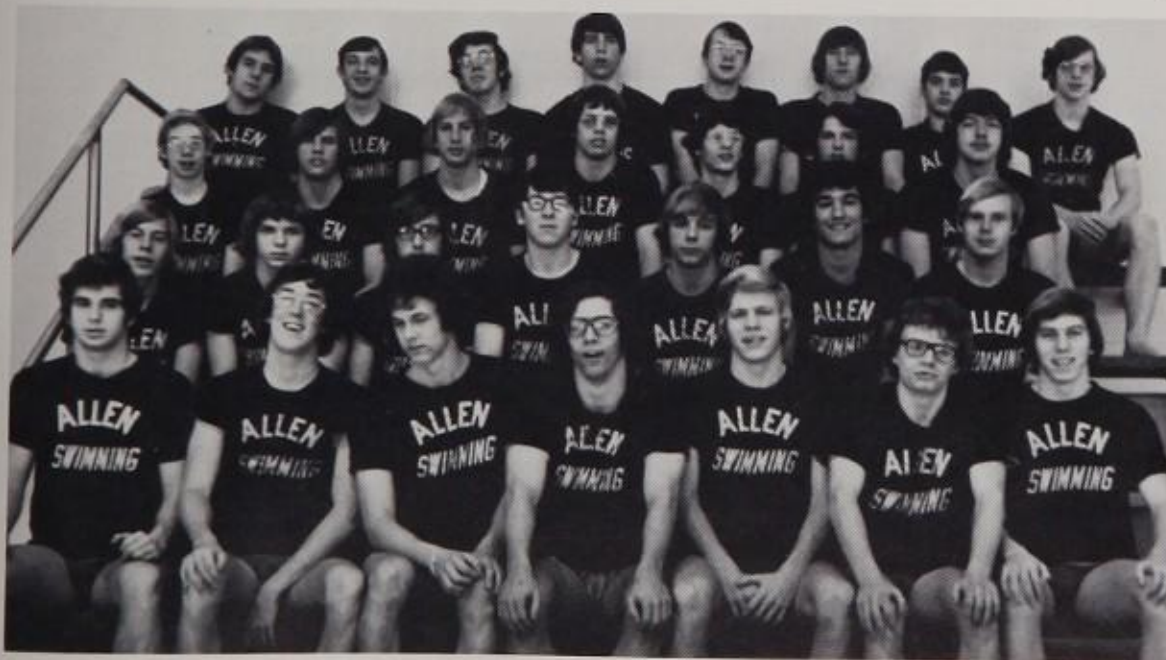

Greg Oxley was another outstanding swimmer. A sophomore, he was responsible for 12 school and pool marks. He qualified for States in the 200 IM, finishing second in Districts. With him on the relay team was Dave Clark, who was instrumental in bringing the relay from behind in several meets, particularly Dieruff where the team needed the first to win. Barry Dayton looked exceptional in the 500-freestyle, breaking six records while doing a time of 5:12.9. Pete Nunan, another freestyler, specialized in short distances. Senior John Dolan co-captained the team along with Roberts.

The very competitive Allen swimmers finished 9-1 in league action. All of their wins, except the Dieruff cliff-hanger, developed from early leads.

Girls streak

Allen's gymnasts continued their three-year winning streak and took the EPL Championship in as many starts. Under the direction of Mrs. Hoffman, the girls finished 10-0 and sent eight qualifiers to Regionals, taking all but one first at Districts. Four of the eight also competed at States: Janie Schwyer, Martha Helm, Sue Hertz, and Dorinda Gipe.

Janie, who was last year's state champ in the balance beam, copped the titles in both that and floor exercise. Allen led a sweep on the floor with juniors Audrey Amey and Penny Zanders finishing second and third, respectively. Senior Sue Hertz placed second in the balance beam, and Martha Helm was awarded the gold medal in vaulting. Qualifying for the bars were two sophomores, Dorinda Gipe with a first and Jamie Schick with a third.

Team captain Joan Gackenbach was the outstanding senior. She took a gold in the advanced all-around category at Districts and competed and placed high in all four individual events in the league meets.

First victory draws strange accidents

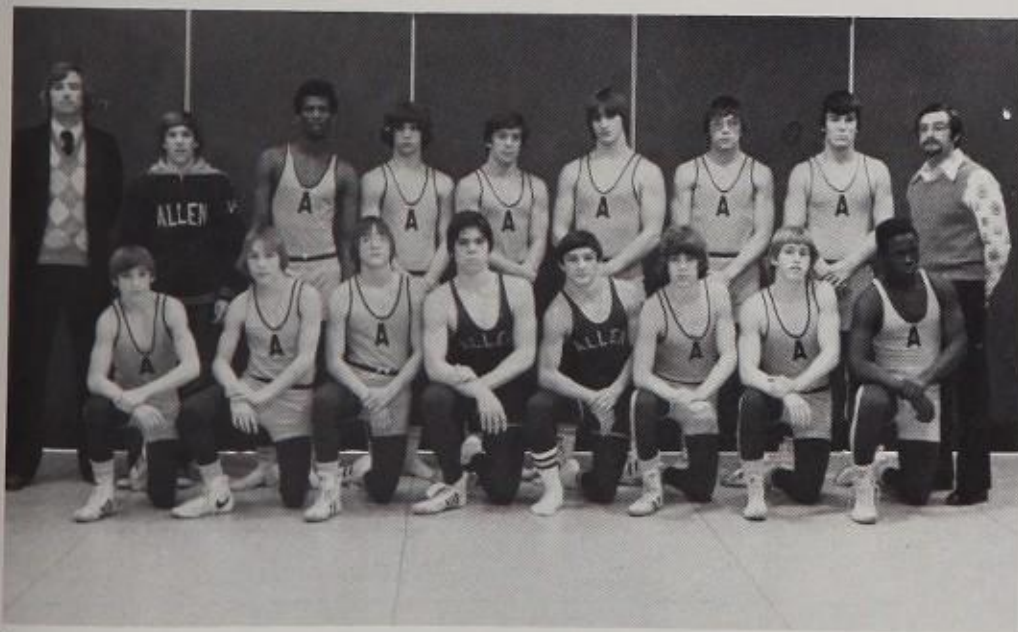

Mr. Michael Davis was initiated as new varsity coach when his grapplers won their first meet of the season against Central Catholic. Disregarding the fact that as the team hoisted him off the mat to show their appreciation, they dropped him on his face; he was elated with the win. The victory was impressive with Mike Sherer and Jim Karapelou gaining superior decisions. Sherer's match was unusual in that he wrestled for four periods instead of the customary three, due to an oversight by the referee.

Sherer (14-3-1) and Karapelou both did outstanding jobs throughout the year. At the Becahi Christmas Tournament, Mike was 132 lb. champ while Jim placed second at heavyweight. Senior Harry Riddick also took a first in the 138 lb. class with a 10-2 decision over Notre Dame's Chris Buschi. All three pinned in a surprise win over Parkland as did sophomore Randy Schlener, who was named winner of the Annual Davis Award as most outstanding wrestler at the Allen-Dieruff meet.

Other notable wrestlers were Tom Wenck and Mike Turner. Karapelou and Sherer served as team captains.

Record weakened by forfeitures

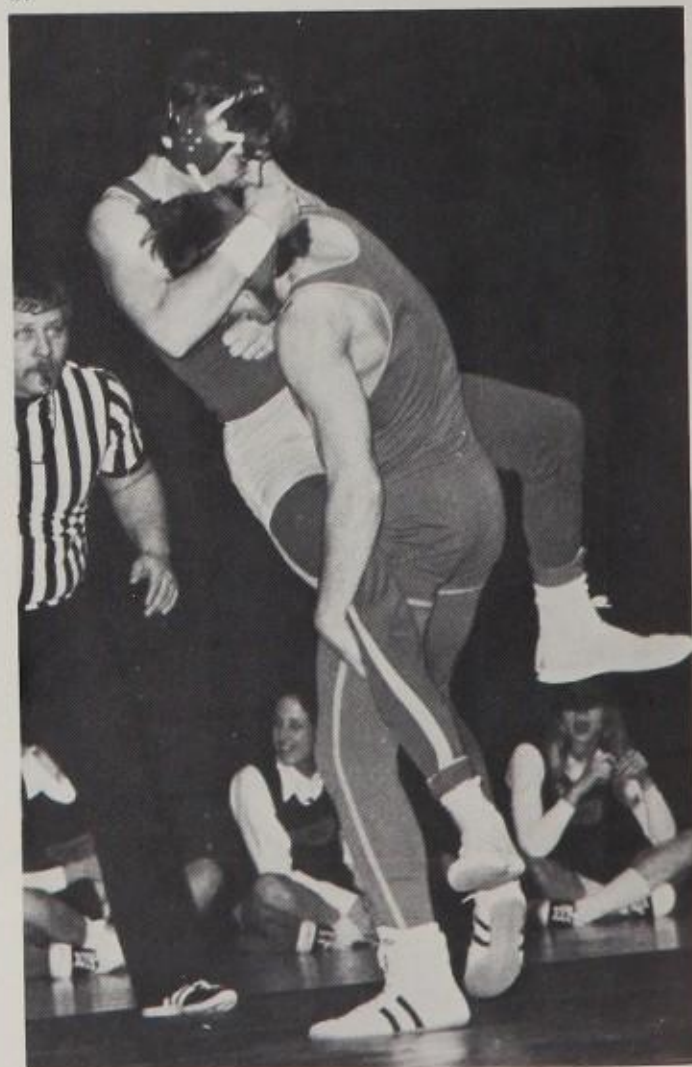

Mr. Robert Heavener began his first year as JV wrestling coach. Although his team achieved only a 4-8-1 record, many of the losses came as a result of the six points given up for a forfeited weight class. These forfeitures were often heavy in the lower and upper weights, but the middle divisions were well represented.

Team standout was junior Pete Dent who pinned three times. Jim Manley also had a winning season of 6-5, and Joe Columbo finished 6-2. Other able wrestlers were sophomores Rich Garner and Steve Ott and juniors Ken Lindtner, Doug Shoenberger, Rick Laudenslager, and Burk Zorn.

1. Burk Zorn deliberately forces his opponent to the mat and wins the decisions 4-0.
2. Joe Columbo cradles his opponent and finishes victorious with a 6-2 overall record.
3. Working to reverse the situation, Doug Shoenberger defeats his Dieruff opponent 4-0.

Perfect scores mark ability

The new rifle range opened December 12. Coach Homer Haaf was quite pleased with both it and the team, ranking the shooters as the best Allen has ever had. He expected them to hit the second highest average in the league with three or four boys in the top 10 highest shooters.

The match against Freedom was the most profitable—five boys hit a perfect 100. John Barker had a 100-10x, Tom and Pete Chromiak both had a 100-9x, Blane Frantz hit a 7x, and Pete Elliot shot a 6x. (To score an x, which is relatively rare, the bullet must hit the bull's-eye without touching the 9-ring.) Other rifle members who hit a perfect score were Dale Marazik, Bill Bleckly, Chuck Bakis, and Randy Blose.

FACULTY...

The everchanging environment at Allen added responsibility for all teachers. Faculty meetings, department meetings and committee meetings became the locales for discussing curriculum revisions and building renovations.

Teachers involved themselves more closely with students in independent studies, clubs and student initiated projects. Faculty members chaperoned the 24 hour dance marathon and discovered how their daytime charges react during a long, tiring night.

Teachers also reacted socially with their peers at the annual faculty picnic where families mingled; coaches actually played the game and the perennial card game lasted far into the evening.

Two educators end careers

Two men with a total of 77 years of service to education retired from their administrative positions.

Henry J. Weidner, who began teaching English at Harrison-Morton Junior High School in 1937, retired as Assistant to Superintendent, Administrative Services.

During his 37 years in the district he served as principal of Central J.H.S. and the newly opened South Mountain J.H.S. He opened Dieruff High School and was named its first principal. In 1966 he was elected Director of Secondary Education and in 1971 Assistant to Superintendent.

Charles H. Nehf retired as Assistant Director of Pupil Services after 40 years in the district. He began in 1935, teaching arithmetic at Central J.H.S., then moving to Harrison-Morton where he became an assistant principal. In 1946 he performed like duties at Allentown High School. Later at Penn Street he was Director of Audio-Visual Education, a Director of Public Information and in 1962 became Director of Attendance, Health Service and Property.

Triumvirate rules flexibly

Three gentlemen, whose presence remained in highest demand at AHS, rarely enjoyed a moment's rest.

Principal John McHugh and his assistants, Mr. James Hambor and Mr. Robert Doran, immersed themselves in meeting faculty, students and parents; attending functions and discussing school policies.

Dr. McHugh inaugurated a crusade for excellence in which his faith and support made scholastic achievement more popular throughout the classes. He took time to meet with students individually and in groups to solve many problems as they arose.

From handling the stage crew, to shuffling scheduling difficulties, Mr. Hambor remained versatile, usually unruffled and ever-ready to listen to a personal complaint. In fact, he sometimes gave the young people with whom he dealt the impression that he could handle any problem that he confronted.

Despite his frequent association with tasks unpopular among the students, attendance and discipline, Mr. Doran achieved a close relationship with many young people whose tenure at Allen was at times in jeopardy.

He often made a special effort to meet old friends outside 113, a room which holds official significance.

Contact counts

Helping students to solve their problems concerned the counselors greatly. Hopeful that their position offers useful personal contacts with students, Allen's seven guidance counselors attempted to break down the guidance stigma. Mr. Charles Knapp stated, "We want to eliminate the image of a clerk making capricious schedule changes." One of the basic problems remained the need to guide uncertain students into facing useful courses.

Staff updates procedures

Covering subjects from art to abnormal psychology, our faculty gave of themselves, presenting not simply facts and figures, but also instilling an understanding of how to extract necessary material from sources and then apply that information.

Moving away from the conventional stand-up lecture, the staff revised their techniques allowing students to gain knowledge through individual research and investigation, group activities and involvement, and the experience of self-expression. These modern changes unlocked many aspects of teaching by which both the instructor and instructed expanded their education.

Dr. Diaz returns after accident

The result of summer vacation proved to be unpleasant for Dr. Anibal Diaz. While exploring the underground Salt Cathedral in Bogota, Columbia, the Spanish teacher fell ten feet in a dimly lit cave breaking his left arm, hip and leg. After his stay in a Bogotá hospital, he was flown to Allentown General Hospital to receive treatment for his fall injuries and a blood clot. Extensive physical therapy at Good Shepherd Home and Rehabilitation Center allowed Dr. Diaz to return to his classroom in December. Ironically Dr. Diaz broke his right arm shortly after returning to school.

English teacher returns after two year leave

Mrs. Sara-Ann Thomas, who returned after a two year maternity leave, said that students didn't change although she saw "more flesh on a hot day than I ever saw before." She regarded youth as being more aware of the world than when she was in high school, more altruistic. "But a touch of realism."

The Advanced Placement classes presented a great challenge to Mrs. Thomas and gave her a chance to be a part of the class rather than apart from the class.

The greatest impact on her teaching career was having her own children. "It made me more tolerant of kids."

Ms. Bortz joins Phys. Ed. staff

The first permanent teaching assignment for Miss Peggie Bortz, physical education teacher, came in the second semester of the 1973-1974 school term.

After substituting in various schools, Miss Bortz was pleased with her position in the Allen Physical Education Department. "Kids tend to get too familiar with a younger teacher at times," she noted, although Miss Bortz feels that her youth can be an advantage. Informal gym classes provided a chance for students to talk more openly, a chance they sometimes didn't have in straight lecture classes.

Biology teacher states outlook

"I think primarily I want to be remembered for things other than academics—more a case of values, values and attitudes. I hope my impact in those two areas has been greater than in academics. You can probably gather that from the way I conduct my classes."

Mr. Robert Tostevin told his classes the first day of school that he would spoon-feed them no longer. Discipline, tempered with open exchange typified the atmosphere during lectures and labs.

"I remember Mr. T telling us he wanted to take our security blankets," one student said, "And he wanted us to study for knowledge, not for grades. He wanted us to gain confidence in him . . . and we did."

Weaving threads

"How would you like your students to remember you?" was the question put to me by a Comus editor.

Men and women who make history are anxious to leave monuments—architectural, artistic, or literary—that will enshrine them forever in the minds (and perhaps the hearts).

I harbor no such ambition. Very simply, I would hope that the efforts of my life be woven into the very fiber of my students—as the threads of a tapestry are carefully woven.

May I list some of the threads I use? Right values examined and acquired.

Discipline that encourages self-control—particularly in that moment of crisis.

Respect and courtesy that can foster peace in our lives.

Confidence in students' basic goodness to engender self-respect.

A sense of humor so that each person will take himself less seriously.

The gift of laughter to brighten the lives of those around us.

Interest in sports and other activities to encourage good spirit and the ability to play together. Love expressed by understanding, compassion, and concern, which might reflect in a minute degree the love which God has for all.

As with the great tapestry, the entire beautiful picture will not be seen until the completion of the life. At that moment the name or image of the weaver is of no importance whatever.

Familiar faces staff offices

Secretaries scattered in offices about the school contributed to the smooth execution of the normal routine.

The ladies of the main office and the attendance office seemed perhaps more familiar because traffic in these localities was heavy, but all performed valuable assistance.

In the two counseling offices four secretaries channeled student inquiries to the right counselor. Mrs. Carol Baker met the lame and queezy at the Health Suite while Mr. Harry Reichard checked off inventories in the book room.

Students visiting the library found Mrs. Gladys Freund working with our librarian, Mr. Sterling Williams, and down in the athletic office Miss Anita Williams funneled incoming calls and kept ticket accounts.

Workers strive for compromise

A three week old strike ended in October when the cafeteria employees, members of local 391, Hotel, Bar and Restaurant Employees Union, completed negotiations with the School District.

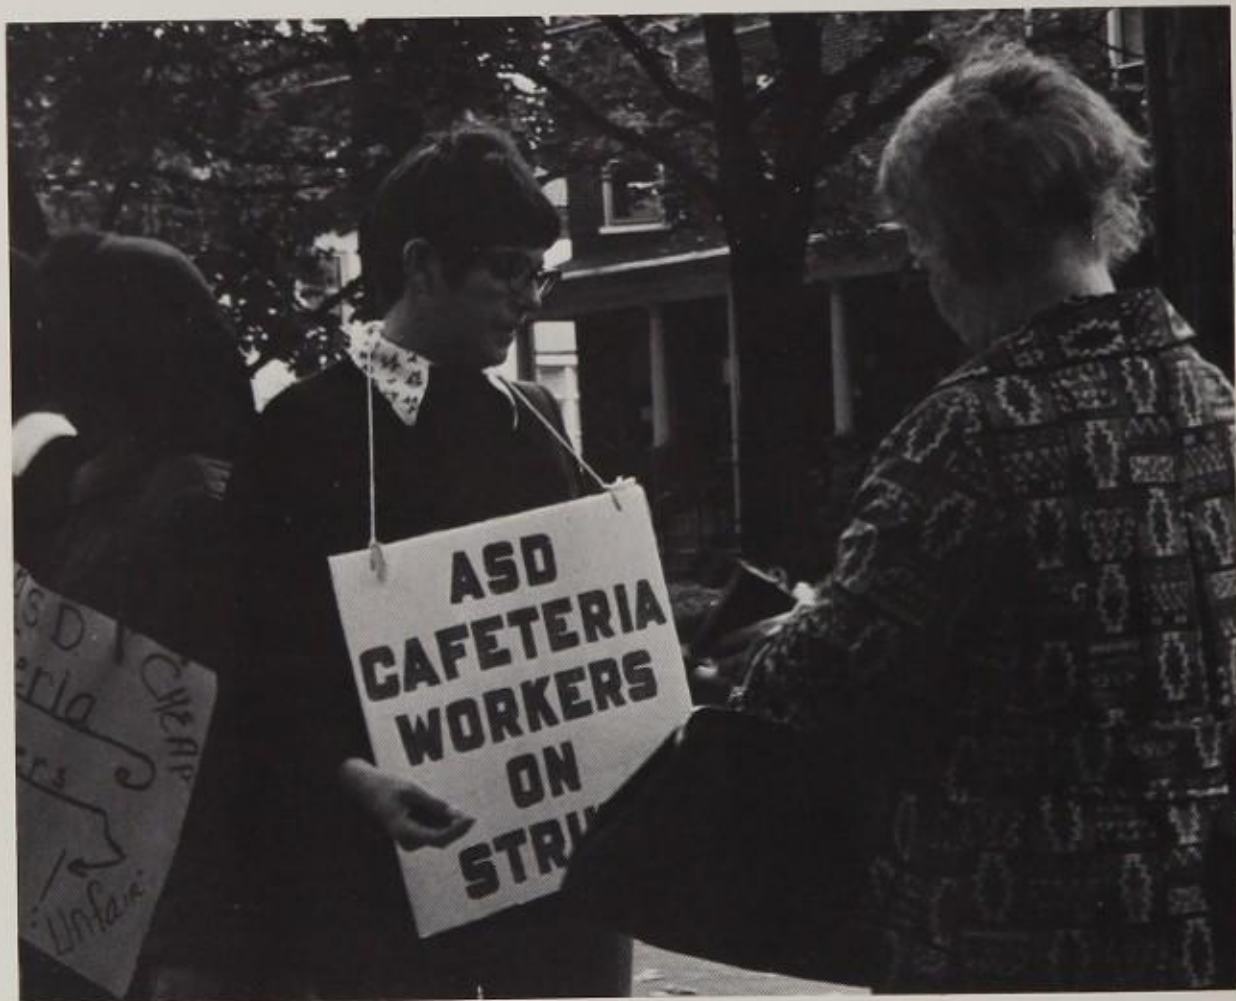

A number of students complained that this second strike in two years hurt them more because inflation added to the cost of providing lunch from outside sources.

Some students washed down brown-bag lunches with milk. Others who had more money ate at nearby luncheonettes.

Nearly 300 Allenites supported the cafeteria workers with a sympathy walkout at lunchtime the day before the strike was settled.

Staff maintains buildings well

Laboring during school hours and into the evening, two staffs of custodians maintained the immaculate atmosphere of our school. Always willing to cut a lock off a locker door or to arrive very early to clear the walks of icy snow, the custodians performed their invaluable service under the guidance of Mr. Stanley Rohrbach.

You call me friend. . .

But do you realize

How much the word implies?

It means that down the years

Through sunshine and tears

There's always someone standing by your heart.

You call me friend. . .

And thus your life and mine

Grow richer in design,

And I would have you know

Wherever you may go

There's always someone standing by your heart.

Lights, decorations, attractive storefronts, sales, saving, selecting, buying — many spontaneous purchases made;
all part of confused excitement of shopping.

Earth styles, terrariums, cars, clothes;
walking, driving, window shopping —
many spontaneous desires stifled by rapid inflation demanding consumer consciousness.

Despite obstacles,
merchants and businesses still thrive;
never independent of one another,
never independent of the community.

BEST WISHES TO THE CLASS OF 1975

Jack Dankel Chevrolet has been selling fine automobiles for 42 years. In the showroom Frank Alexa and Joan Gackenbach admire a 1975 Nova which could become a classic like the '57 Chevy behind it. This model and many other new and used cars can be purchased from the huge selection at 19th and Tilghman Streets, Allentown.

Scott Snyder and Darlene Tomel check over a typical red Freeman's Dairy truck. Since 1927 Freeman's has earned the reputation of being Best by Test in the valley. Located at 13th and Green Streets, Freeman's Dairy continues to serve our community.

DeCHRISTOPHER STUDIOS

Mr. Frank A. DeChristopher and his son, Frank Jr., are more than skilled photographers; they are truly artists in their profession. Their vivaciousness and distinct personalities help them to create the perfect portrait. Standing amidst their modern equipment, the DeChristophers convey a feeling of knowledge and experience. These outstanding qualities, definitely an important part of the DeChristopher team, make them the leading portrait photographers in the Lehigh Valley.

MAYO MOTORS

Anticipating a bright future, Colleen McLaughlin and Drew Wesnak dream of owning a luxurious Lincoln Continental. At Mayo Motors, Route 222 in Trexlertown, a wise buyer will find a wide selection of Lincoln-Mercury automobiles along with American Motors and Jeep products.

At P. A. FREEMAN Kathy Burke and Jace Wagner admire the vast selection of elegant diamond rings shown to them by diamond counselor Brenda Christofaro. P. A. Freeman is located at 911 Hamilton Mall and has an outstanding reputation for fine jewelry.

At Merchants Bank

WE GO TO SCHOOL TOO!

to make sure we present our customers with the best banking services.

While at WILLIAM H. HACKER CO. Duane Miller and Mike Azar discuss accident insurance with J. D. Scurman. Now utilizing modern facilities at 2015 Hamilton Street, the William H. Hacker Co. is prepared to counsel the high school graduate on current insurance needs.

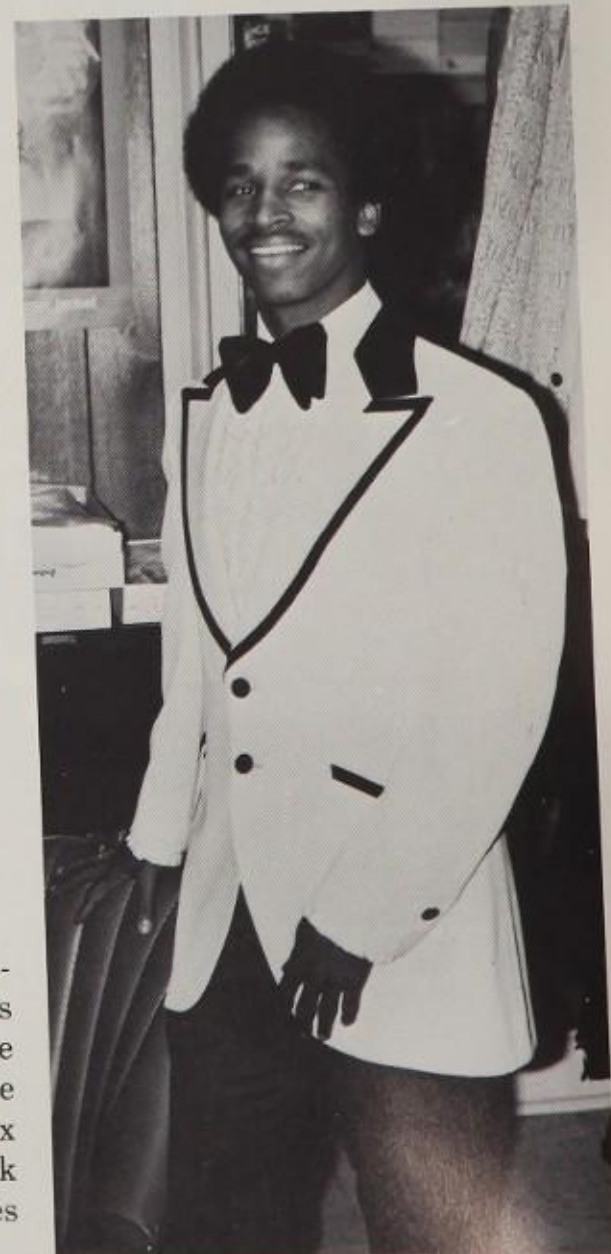

DUNKIN' DONUTS' large showcase selection is admired by Jan Haas and Gary Ginter. Dunkin' Donuts, 15th and Tilghman Streets, is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Friendly waitresses are ready to serve fresh donuts and Dunkin's world famous coffee.

YOCCO'S WEST attracts crowds to 2128 Hamilton Street, but the famous Doggie Pac is served all over the world. Although Sue Pavelko and Donna Dunton can usually be found on the other side of the counter, Yocco's friendly atmosphere tempts them to a late afternoon snack.

C. E. Roth Formal Wear

"See us for that prom at student discount prices." With the newest styles and a wide selection, C. E. Roth is sure to please all. Senior Nate Smith sets the standard with this handsome tux available now for those who want to look their best. Roth Formal Wear welcomes students at 208 N. 10th Street.

While shopping at ZOLLINGER'S Lynn Cathers and Debbie Paules are assisted by salesperson Patti Zettlemoyer, a '74 Allen graduate. Patti explains that the young shopper will find friendly help at the extensive Junior Department. Zollinger's has two locations, 611 Hamilton Mall and the Whitehall Mall.

Tina Berutti dishes up an appetizing ice cream sundae for Sue Kardos at the Ritz. In addition to ice cream, Ritz Barbeque has a longtime reputation for delicious food. Hungry Allen students find its location in the Allentown Fairground a convenience.

Jan Haas, Sandy McNear and Martha Helm discuss gymnastic techniques.

Comus senior section editors Renie Jackson and Jack Walter sort through candid photos.

Advisor Warren Keller makes crucial corrections on a layout design.

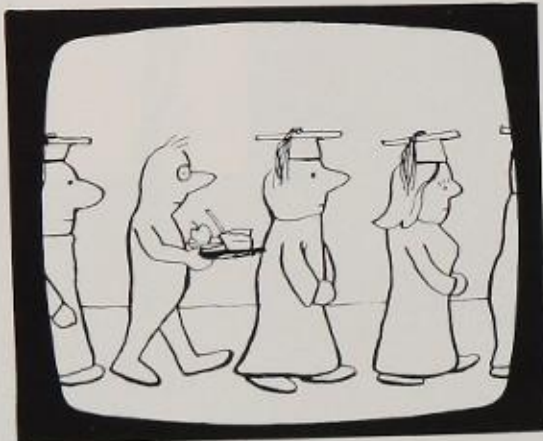

Comus photographers John Svitilla and Mike Karasek set up for a swim team photograph in the natatorium of the Physical Education Center.

Sharon Pavelich observes techniques of yearbook layouts at Columbia University.

The Low Memorial Library is an ideal place for female Comus editors to gather information.

Ted Wills, President of the class of 1975, greets the Honorable Donald E. Wieand in the office of Principal John McHugh prior to the commencement ceremonies, June 6.

Graduation

The Honorable Donald E. Wieand, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Lehigh County, a 1944 graduate of Allentown High School addressed the class of 1975 at commencement ceremonies held June 6 in the physical education center.

Serving a second ten-year term in Lehigh County courts, Judge Wieand spoke to approximately 800 gown-clad seniors, their relatives and friends during colorful graduation exercises.

Judge Wieand, who graduated first in his class from Dickinson School of Law (1950), and his wife Wilma have a son Donald E. Jr., a law student at Dickinson, and a daughter Teresa, a student at Wittenberg University, both of whom also graduated from Allen High School.

Alma Mater

DOROTHY NEWHARD KNOFF, 1912

WARREN F. ACKER, 1900

All hail our Al-ma Mat-er dear, Our voice of praise and glo-ry hear, To Through-out the land, of you we'll sing, Loud will our praise-es ev-er ring, Of whom all rev-er-ence we bear, Of you for-get-ful we'll be ne'er, We days that have passed by, Fond mem-o-ries of dear old high. Oh, shall for-ev-er for you yearn, And cher-ish all that we may learn, Through Al-ma Mat-er hear our praise To you all hon-or we do raise, Through fu-ture days of life, 'Mid joy and strife;
fu-ture days of life, 'Mid joy and strife;
True may we stand, both to you And Ca-na-ry and Blue.
True may we stand, both to you And Ca-na-ry and Blue.

Acknowledgements

The editors of 1975 Comus are acutely aware of the help given by many people in the production of this book. We extend most sincere thanks to:

Dr. John F. McHugh and other administrators who smoothed the way and encouraged the staff. Our advisers, Mr. David Firestone and Mr. Warren Keller who struggled to meet deadlines along with us. Mr. James Musselman for art work needed in a hurry. Miss Eleanor Geisinger and Miss Dorothy Parnell and their secretarial office practice classes for completing typing assignments on time.

Mrs. Miriam Strawbridge, Mrs. Carolyn Smith and Mrs. Linda Hahn for the instant aid they gave in the main office; Mr. Harry Reichard, our man in the bookroom who keeps the accounts straight; and the custodial staff for providing risers the right time at the right place.

Mr. Ken Clauser for shooting group pictures for us; the Photography Club which provided photographers and prints on a regular basis; Mr. Howard Arnold of the Walsworth Company for his advice and concern.

Lori Sanders, Rose Schoendorfer, Donna Westgate, Lori Silverstein, Ann Pryor, Penny Cylinder and Susan Engelson-students who came to our rescue when we needed extra help.

Ted Wills for the cartoons he drew.

All the teachers who cooperated in accepting call blanks for our workers; the advertisers and patrons for their generous support.

Without the cooperation of many concerned members of our school family, we would have experienced innumerable difficulties. Again, thank you.

CONTINUED TOMORROW...

The magic in the unexpected is never ending. Facing challenges and meeting fresh opportunities, the class of 1975 shared in experiences that will provide lasting impressions throughout the coming years.

Maturity tempers spontaneous reactions, but Comus will ever be our instant replay.
